DO YOU COOK IN GLASS?
Glass baking dishes are a novelty. Just why we should bake in glass may seem puzzling to some old-time cooks who dislike new methods just because they are new. One reason is that the food, if baked in glass can be served in the same dish in which it is cooked. This means that food can be brought to the table hot, and that one dish answers the purpose of two.

Another reason is that you can watch it cooking. This means that you will know when the bottom is sufficiently brown and that you can avoid against scorching.

Then, too, it is claimed that glass baking dishes are easier to clean than metal ones.

They are interesting, anyway, these new glass baking dishes, and the housekeeper always on the lookout for the newest and most advanced should look into them.

TEA ROLLS.
One quart of flour, one tablespoonful of lard, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one tablespoonful of sugar, a little salt, one-third cake of compressed yeast dissolved in half a cupful of warm water, one pint of boiling milk.

All the ingredients should be stirred in with the boiling milk except the yeast, which is added when the sponge is a little cool. Knead three or four times. Half an hour before rolls are wanted roll out and cut with cake cutter. Fold together with piece of butter in middle, let them rise till light, brush over with an egg and bake.

JOS. STRENG FUNERAL HELD IN OGDEN TABERNACLE

Shortly after three o'clock this afternoon, Joseph Streng was laid to his final rest in the Mountain View cemetery. The performance of the ritual service of the Royal Arcanum lodge, of which he was a member, marked the close of the last chapter in his earthly career.

The untimely passing of Mr. Streng was not only a loss to his family, but to the community, this being evidenced by the presence of nearly eight hundred of his acquaintances at the funeral, which was held early this afternoon in the Ogden tabernacle.

In the gathering were nearly two hundred members of Weber club, who met at the club at 1 p. m., marched to the tabernacle and there awaited the coming of the funeral cortege from the Kirkendall chapel. The cortege reached the tabernacle at 1:30 o'clock, headed by members of the Royal Arcanum lodge, who had previously assembled at the Eagles club and from there marched to the chapel.

Immediately behind the fraternal brothers of Mr. Streng, and preceding the hearse which held the body of the deceased, were the honorary pallbearers, Messrs. W. H. Wattis, F. W. Gentsch, Theodore Schanzenbach, A. P. Bigelow, Leroy Buchmiller and John Spargo, directors of the Weber club, and the active pallbearers, employees of the Weber club, in automobiles. The bereaved wife and daughter, their relatives and intimate friends of the family, in automobiles, completed the cortege.

The Weber club members formed a lane on the east side of Washington avenue, opposite the tabernacle, and with bared heads awaited the passing of the cortege. They then marched into the tabernacle and occupied seats specially reserved for them near the bereaved family and the members of the Royal Arcanum lodge.

Floral offerings of varied large and beautiful designs, tributes from business and social organizations, with which Mr. Streng had been prominently associated, and from individuals, covered the front of the pulpit platform and, in addition to these fine tributes of respect and regard, the mourners were tendered further sympathy by the associated wool-buyers of the intermountain country, in the following resolutions.

Resolutions.
Expression of sympathies to Mrs. Joseph Streng and daughter from friends of the deceased affiliated with various wool firms:

"Whereas, in the wisdom of the Almighty, He has seen fit to call unto Himself your beloved husband and father and whereas through this untimely calling you have been deprived of the love, comfort and association of one so much beloved by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. Therefore be it

"Resolved, that through these resolutions we offer unto you our heartfelt sympathies and we further pray that the memories of our so much beloved may always be with you to comfort and console you until such a time as you shall be reunited with him in the glorious future. Be it further

"Resolved, That these resolutions be printed in the daily papers of Utah and a copy sent to his family and also a copy sent to his firm in Boston, Mass. (Signed) J. R. Edgshell, W. C. Snow, Albert Brekson, C. S. Carter, D. Pratt, Ross M. Tuttle, L. C. Moody, Joe Parquah, Henry Cobb, John T. Flinders, H. C. Haight, Albert Smith, J. W. Summerhays, J. J. Summerhays, C. E. Summerhays, W. D. McKellar, Jesse Goodfellow, J. A. Kearns, C. L. Tuttle, Jr., C. P. Pruitt, Clinton C. Brown, L. R. Anderson."

Service in Tabernacle.
The funeral service was conducted by President John V. Bluth of the Weber stake, in the absence of President John Streng, the father of the deceased, who was suddenly called to Salt Lake City this morning. The musical program was arranged by Joseph Ballantyne, director of the Ogden tabernacle choir, and Sam F. Whitaker presided at the organ. As the body of Mr. Streng was borne into the house of worship, Mr. Whitaker played "The Death of Ase" from Grieg's "Peer Gynt Suite," impressing upon all present the solemnity of the occasion.

The service was opened with a soulful rendition of "The Link Divine," by Douglas Brian and the invocation was offered by President Bluth. As the next number, Mrs. Maude Lloyd sang "There is a Land" and by special request, Mrs. Farley later sang "Some Musical Number was "The Vacant Chair" sung by a male quartette composed of Jed Ballantyne, Douglas Brian, Leo Madsen and Walter Stephens. All were rendered with much feeling, words and music acting as a balm to the hearts of the mourners.

Rev. W. W. Fleetwood of the Church of the Good Shepherd and Apostle David O. McKay of the Mormon church were the speakers. Their sermons were of deep religious impress, both expressing the hope, given to man through the scriptures, of a future existence. The speakers also expressed the sorrow of the community over the loss of Mr. Streng and in sincere eulogy told of the place he had held in the hearts of his business and other associates.

The benediction was pronounced by President Bluth and the cortege was again formed and proceeded to Mountain View cemetery.

HEAVY DEMAND FOR PACIFIC BOTTOMS

Washington, March 7.—Heavy demand for Pacific ocean bottom for East Indian products and scarcity of vessels in the Oriental trade has brought stagnation to certain south China industries that depend on export business to the United States, according to consular reports today from Hong Kong. Virtually no ordinary Chinese merchandise is going forward now to America, it is said.

The general freight situation in all eastern ports is serious, it is declared. Every warehouse in Hong Kong is jammed with goods awaiting shipment to the United States. Freight rates have been increased four times within a month and only the goods in greatest demand are being moved.

FRENCH OFFICER REVIEWS BATTLE

He was not the only one to show magnificent devotion to his country.

"Another instance of the cool bravery which animated our artillerymen was given by a battery which was under a frightful bombardment. One 305-millimeter German shell killed the captain, the sergeant major, a sergeant and five gunners. Do you imagine that interrupted the work of the others? Not for a moment. As if with one impulse they pulled off their coats to work better and in their shirt-sleeves they redoubled their efforts to intensify their certain fire and to urge on their comrades.

Great Shells Thrown.
In the course of the day of February 22, we received an incalculable number of 305 millimeter shells from the Germans on the farm of Mormont and its neighborhood. Our situation was very difficult and it was almost impossible to get munitions. We were lucky if one case out of three arrived. The road to Vacherauville was swept by an infernal hail. The gun which was detached to service at Sommeux underwent a bombardment by shells at all times but carried out without ceasing its work of destruction against the enemy. Four times the gunners, to prevent it from overheating, washed it from their water bottles. When hard pressed finally by the enemy, they removed the breech keys and fell back. In despair, however, at not having been able to drag their gun with them, they returned during the night to try to pull it off with their hands. The chief gunner was wounded in this enterprise, which failed. The artillerymen decided not to allow their gun to fall into the hands of the enemy and returned once more to blow it up. They found that it had already been destroyed, as a 210 millimeter shell had in the meantime struck it. Similar incidents occurred everywhere.

Men Vie in Courage.
"On February 23 our men vied with each other in courage and devotedness. In the evening after bombardments from both sides of extraordinary violence, our batteries received the order to move to the Cote du Polvre, where they arrived almost miraculously without losses. February 24 was a great day. What a massacre of Boches! It was then that the French and German troops disputed possession of Hill 344. We pounded into the German masses, each gun trying to outdo the other. The enemy advanced and retreated by turns, and we followed it perfectly, lengthening and shortening our range, according to its movements. How many victims we have made, it would be impossible to say—heaps and heaps of them, that I can affirm.

German Regiment Annihilated.
The German regiment coming out of the Haumont wood and another coming from Samogneux toward the little hills were caught under our fire and literally chopped up. I assure you that our men whom we left behind on the field of battle have been well avenged.

"There is only one thing that we desire and that is to see similar occasions present themselves. "Our field artillery in the course of the fighting at Verdun has shown that it maintained admirably its reputation. When the war of big movements comes and the French advance has once more begun it will give a good account of itself in the hour of great decisions."

LOWEST BIDS ON THE INDIANA HOLDING REMODELING OF CITY HALL

When the bids for remodeling the city building were considered last night by the board of city commissioners, it was learned that the cost will be $11,592. C. J. Humphris was the low bidder for general alterations and Halverson Brothers were the low bidders for heating and plumbing. The Humphris bid being $8,765 and the Halverson bid $2,827. The question was referred to the committee of the whole, which will make a report to-morrow.

Today Mayor A. R. Heywood stated that the contract would be awarded in due time and that remodeling would begin in the near future, as it is considered not only a matter of necessity that the building be remodeled to suit the convenience of the city government, but that by the placing of comfort stations in the building, the city will save money. The cost of comfort stations outside the building would be about $10,000.

The application of the Ogden Paint, Oil & Glass company for renewal of license to do business in the city was referred to the superintendent of public safety, Mayor A. R. Heywood. Chief of the fire department, G. A. Graves, reported that the company is not complying with the strict letter of the city ordinances in the handling of its inflammable products.

The petition of Robert Burton, asking for damages in the sum of $50, occasioned by a collision between his coal wagon and the fire truck on Twenty-fifth street, some time ago, was referred to the superintendent of public affairs and finance. Mr. Burton claims that the fire truck ran into his wagon on a return trip from a fire on Twenty-sixth street and break a part of the running gear.

Department claims amounting to $1390.09 were allowed and the auditor directed to draw warrants for the respective sums.

A letter was received from W. P. Monson stating that personal affairs had made it impossible for him to attend the Pittsburg road convention for the city.

First Preferential Ever Held in State—Voting for Vice President, U. S. Senator and Others.

WILSON UNOPPOSED

Charles W. Fairbanks Only Person Seeking Nomination on Republican Ticket.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 7.—Indiana is today holding its first state wide preferential primaries. The voters are showing their preferences for candidates for president, vice president, United States senator, governor, members of congress, members of the state legislature and for county offices and are electing precinct committeemen and delegates to the state conventions.

President Wilson has no opposition in Indiana in his race for re-nomination on the Democratic ticket and Vice President Thomas R. Marshall also has no opponent in the primary. Charles W. Fairbanks, former vice president of the United States is the only person seeking the Republican nomination for president in this state. There is no known candidate for the nomination for vice president on the Republican ballot. The primary law provides that the choice of the voters in the primary shall be supported in the national conventions so long as their names remain before those bodies.

Candidates For Senator.
The three Republican candidates for senator are: Harry S. New, for many years national committeeman for Indiana; James E. Watson, former member of congress, and Arthur R. Robbins, a state senator. For governor, James H. Goodrich, present national committeeman, Warren T. McCray, a farmer, and Judge Quincy A. Meyers, former of the state supreme court, are seeking the nomination.

On the Democratic side the name of John W. Kern was the only one placed on the ballots for the nomination for United States. For the gubernatorial nomination of that party John M. A. Adair, congressman from the eighth district, and Leonard B. Clore, formerly national champion corn grower are opponents.

James B. Wilson Progressive Nominee
On the Progressive ballot James B. Wilson is unopposed for the nomination for United States senator and J. Frank Hanley has no opposition for the nomination for the office of governor to which he was once elected as a Republican.

Because of the length of the ballots and also because of the fact that the voters may indicate their second choice candidates it may be several days before the complete results will be known.

Seattle Primary
Seattle, Wash., March 7.—An election was in progress here today for mayor and various other city officers. At a primary election held two weeks ago, Mayor Hiram C. Gill received 3,000 majority over all other candidates combined, and 13,000 over his nearest competitor, Austin E. Griffith, former chief of police, running today against Gill.

AUSTRALIAN BRIGADE IN VERDUN FIGHT

London, March 7, 1:13 p. m.—A dispatch from Melbourne published here today stating that Minister of Defense Pearce had announced that an Australian siege brigade was fighting at Verdun is the first statement printed here that British forces were operating with the French there.

It had been reported here that British artillery had been moved to Verdun and had been doing great execution but it was not known whether the big guns transferred were being manned by British or French artillerymen.

The same people who produced "The Hypocrites" made "Hop, the Devil's Brew." An intensely interesting play. Full of action and life. Don't miss it. At The Ogden.
